Not your basic hot-tub party

Saturday's first-ever polar bear splash party at the Boiler Room Restaurant in Bryant Pond was a great success—with more than a dozen hearty souls braving the frigid waters of Lake Christopher behind the restaurant. They, and the others who signed up to join the Boiler Room Polar Bear Club, helped raise more than $200, which Bethel Police Chief Brian Stowell accepted on behalf of the local DARE program. Restaurateur Savage says he plans to make the polar bear parties a regular affair. Left, Savage, Clayton York, Ernie Nieberle and Kenny Vigor prepare the pool early in the day. Lower left, Savage shows how it's done. Lower right, the crowd joins in...and splashes merrily away.

Taxes up, economy down, but local tax payments are off only slightly

By WENDY HANSCOM

The weak economy combined with increasing local property tax rates may be making it hard for many people to pay their tax bills, but most local tax collectors report that townspeople who usually pay their bills on time are still managing to do so.

Only in Greenwood do tax payments appear to be significantly behind last year.

Tax Collector Phyllis Coolidge said collections are "slow, slow, slow."

"The same people are delinquent," said Coolidge, "but [all] people seem to be having a hard time," paying their taxes.

Coolidge estimated that approximately 60 percent of 1990 taxes have been paid, considerably less than the town had collected at this time last year.

In Woodstock, however, Town

Woodstock selectmen OK Village Store's new plumbing arrangement

By WENDY HANSCOM

The Village Store in Bryant Pond is no longer pumping sewage into a marshy area behind the store that feeds eventually into Lake Christopher.

Village Store owner Dan Reavis has broken the pipe from the building to the septic system and is now in compliance with selectmen's orders to shut down the failed septic system, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield.

"He has unhooked the outgoing plumbing line," said Maxfield, "and he has a chemical toilet in place."

Store employee Nancy MacKillop said Friday, that the septic tank has been pumped and filled in.

Some water is still coming into the store. "The only water we use is for coffee," said MacKillop.

"Cooking utensils are taken to Reavis' home and washed there," added MacKillop. "We have a container under the drain to catch the overflow from filling coffee pots. We dump that

Nuke waste authority will hold meeting in Greenwood

The Maine Low-Level Radioactive Waste Authority will hold an informational meeting on Thursday, Jan. 24 in the Greenwood Town Hall, at which time area residents can ask questions regarding the authority's designation of Greenwood (along with Bethel, Woodstock, West Paris and Milton Township) as a potential dump site for Maine's low-level radioactive waste.

The authority held a similar informational meeting in Rumford on Nov. 26, shortly after it released a map showing 12 regions in the state that are being considered for such a site.

At that time, however, a number of concerned residents of the area

Easing sump-to-sewer woes

Help available for some in village who must reconnect to storm drains

With the first construction phase of Bethel's Downtown Revitalization Project due to begin by April 1, Linda Saunders has begun work as the town's new community development specialist—a position in which she will work with and assist homeowners who must disconnect their sump pumps from the present sewer system and reroute their discharge into the new storm drains.

Saunders, with Town Manager Madeleine Henley, will also administer a $25,000 loan grant (part of the town's $579,980 Community Development Block Grant), which is intended to help offset the expense incurred by property owners who must make the plumbing switch.

This summer's construction will involve installing new water mains, sanitary sewer lines and storm drains throughout much of the center of the village, including parts of Main, Mason, High, and Elm streets and all of Spring Street.

Bethel's newly enacted sewer regulations require that individual homeowners disconnect any sump pumps (or other sources of non-sanitary discharge, such as roof gutter drainage) from the town's sanitary sewer lines—in order to reduce the volume of water that must be treated at the sewer plant.

Saunders said there are 59 individual properties in the area to be reconstructed this summer. She will be working with them to coordinate their reconnection to the new lines, and in some cases to provide loan/grants to offset the cost of the switchover.

Eligibility for the loan/grants will be based on family income, she said, and the amount of money a property owner will receive will be based on the estimated expense of their reconnection.

The funds may be awarded in the form of low-interest loan, an outright grant, or some combination of the two, she said.

Current plans call for the water/sewer/storm-drain reconstruction to be extended to the rest of the town's system in five subsequent phases, over the next three to five years, depending on the availability of funds.

Property owners in those areas are also required by the town regulations

Hoopsters tops in Gorham tourney, now eye playoffs

The Telstar High School boys basketball team has taken first place in the Gorham (N.H.) Christmas Invitational Tournament.

On Friday the boys beat Gorham High School 65-61, and on Saturday they captured the championship by soundly defeating Laconia Christian 59-47.

(The Telstar girls took second place in the tournament, beating Gorham 53-35, but then falling to Laconia Christian 52-27. Jenni Bailey was named to the tournament all star team.)

The Rebels boys have—so far—not met with similar success in their regular season games, but Coach Carroll Higgins said he's confident the team is about to turn the corner that will take it all the way to the playoffs.

With one third of their regular schedule behind them, the Rebels have won two games and lost four. "We played well against some good teams," Higgins said, "but we just weren't able to pull it out."

The main problem was inconsistency. "We needed to be a little more aggressive both offensively and defen-

Wardens warn: Watch that ice!

Ice fishing season opened Jan. 1, and even before that a few brave souls could be seen out on local ponds and lakes, but the Maine Warden Service is warning fishermen and others to be extra cautious on area lakes and ponds—where warm, wet weather has caused unusually treacherous conditions.

Because of record warm temperatures in December, area waters may not be frozen as solidly as in previous years.

Game Warden Donald Gray, of Division A Headquarters in Gray, said careful examination of the ice was the best way for fishermen to determine if a lake or pond was safe to go out on.

"I would tell them to take their chisel or auger and every 10 or 20 yards check the ice conditions until they get

Bids go out today on sewer line work

Bids are due to go out today, Jan. 2, on nearly $1 million of downtown Bethel sewer, water-main and storm-drain replacement work.

The town has allocated $988,000 to cover this phase of its infrastructure revitalization project. If the bids come in higher than that figure—as they did on the sewer plant upgrade—then the project will have to be scaled back.

The bids will be opened Jan. 31, at 2 p.m. in the town office. The actual construction work is expected to begin in April.

Opinions

And a "Ho, Ho, Ho," from the KKK

One of the nicest aspects of the holiday season is hearing from unexpected people.

Going through our post-Christmas mail at The Citizen last week, we came across (amidst the bills and checks, press releases, press releases and press releases) a hand-addressed envelope obviously containing a Christmas card. Well, many people are kind enough to think of us at Christmas, and we certainly appreciate their cards and notes.

But this card was a bit different. "Merry Christmas" the front of the card wished us, and inside, "and a happy new year from the KKK."

What a nice surprise! Of course, the card wasn't signed with a real person's name, and institutional greetings are not quite so heartwarming as the personal sort, but why quibble. It's the thought that counts, right?

Actually though, the card wasn't really a card either, but a sheet of paper xeroxed and folded twice. A "quarto" fold, the printers call it. But, hey, a handcrafted card makes an especially warm and personal greeting, and we certainly liked the design our Klan friends chose for the front of their card.

Nothing obvious like a burning cross, but instead a nicely lit menorah, the ceremonial Jewish candle holder.

What a thoughtful touch—representing, no doubt, an ecumenical recognition of how much the two major western religions have in common.

The office Scrooge suggested that the menorah was used ironically, but we doubt that—in our conversations with Klanspeople and their supporters, we don't recall them favoring subtle rhetorical strategies like irony.

No, we'll accept the card in the spirit it was doubtless intended. And we think the Klan folks should be encouraged to continue sending out greeting cards. After all, the psychologists (the behaviorists at least) argue that you are far more likely to modify feelings by changing behavior, than you are to modify behavior by changing feelings.

Such therapeutic activities on the part of the Klansmen will perhaps help them to overcome their feelings of persecution and paranoia, and to reconnect one day to the rest of the human community.

So, "Merry Christmas," to our unidentified friends in the Klan. And we trust they'll go forth in the new year just as He intended—with peace in their hearts and good will toward men. Good will, that is, toward all men.

Newry ponders charging impact fees

Newry selectmen, at the urging of the town's planning board, are investigating the feasibility of assessing impact fees on development in the town.

Development increases the demand for town services, according to First Selectman Steve Wight.

"The feeling is if there's going to be development, then they should pay fees for their impact," said Wight—such as "the fire department, roads, equipment to maintain roads, and down the road, maybe police protection."

"Taxation of the developments will help maintain the levels of services the town offers," he said.

At least one planning board member thinks the change is long overdue. "We're a few years late," said planner Mike Lynch. "We've already got a fire department that is a direct result of development. I think in a way we're an isolated town [with this issue], a small town with tremendous development."

"Development impacts things indirectly like the school budget," added Lynch.

A tool such as impact fees is "overdue and I think we're remiss not having it now so we can use it."

"When you don't have impact fees, you're kind of subsidizing development at the taxpayers expense," said Lynch. "I think any capital expenditure caused by development should be paid by developers."

Wight said if the town does vote to establish an impact-fee formula, the planning board would use the fixed charge to assess a project when it gains approval.

Wight said the selectmen have not determined if a committee will be formed to study the possibility of setting up an impact-fee, or if one that is already established will be asked to investigate the issue.

MASS. RULES—No one who has battled rush hour traffic on Route 128 is going to be stopped by a silly little sign. This visitor from down below looked briefly at the "DO NOT EXIT" sign at the IGA parking lot, there—like so many before him—blithely sallied forth, adding to the congestion and confusion on Main St. Perhaps he thought the sign did not apply to out-of-staters, certainly not to those who drive Mercedes. Perhaps if it read "trail closed" ...

Letters to the editor

STOP SADDAM NOW

To the Editor:
In the late 30's we had an evil little man talking and strutting his stuff in the beer halls of Germany. No one took him too seriously because after all he was just a paper-hanging corporal with a funny little moustache talking nonsense.

How could it be possible that one man could be a problem for the entire world. How could one man be so evil as to lie to the entire world.

Neville Chamberlain, because he believed in negotiation, returned from a meeting with Adolf Hitler waving a piece of paper declaring "peace in our time," and before the ink on the paper was dry Europe and the rest of the world was thrown into World War II.

During the 60s when people took to the streets and demanded that our forces be taken out of Vietnam in the name of peace and love, our military begged not to be removed because of the blood bath that would follow.

That our forces had to yield to political pressure from well-intentioned but ill-informed people is an historical truth, but so are the horrendous killing fields that we found out about later.

Millions of people killed, not hundreds, not thousands, but millions of people killed in the quest for absolute power.

When Christ found his temple being used for evil and personal gain he drove the offenders out quickly and violently with the ends of a lash.

That the Middle East Crisis is firmly entrenched in the need for oil is certainly without question true. I am not so naive as to deny this.

The man who has created this situation is the same man that has gassed his own people, has murdered his own family for political reasons, and has decimated a country that was clearly his friend in a war with Iran.

If the 12 million people who were slaughtered in the concentration camps of Hitler or the millions of Asians who were murdered in the jungles and villages could be asked, I am sure that they would with a single voice, beg for us to stop this man.

A question that all of us have heard is "Why didn't the Jews fight back?" The answer is very simple. They were not strong enough and they just couldn't imagine that such evil could exist. They could not imagine that a man could kill just for the sake of power.

The alliance against Iraq is strong enough and we know from history and from reports out of the region that this man is capable of killing just for power.

It has been said that if we don't learn from history we are doomed to repeat it.

It seems to me that almost 100 percent of the people who have been released from the region have said the man must be stopped.

If I ever am told by a doctor that I have a "spot" on my lung I don't believe and can't imagine telling him that we should wait to remove it until it gets larger. This Saddam Hussein is a cancer that must be removed or Mother Earth and all her children will suffer.

ROTARY SAYS 'THANKS'

To the Editor:
On behalf of the Bethel Rotary Club, I would like to thank the hundreds of people who responded to this year's Christmas for Children project. Thanks to these donations over 140 local children received new toys on Christmas morning.

The bulk of our donations were from local people, but we also received dozens of contributions from people in other states who own property or just enjoy visiting our area.

Just four weeks ago we were just halfway to our $5,000 goal. Since that time donations skyrocketed. A great response to our mass mailing and three Saturdays in front of the Bethel IGA helped make this years project the most successful in its three year history.

Natalie Timberlake honored by home health care group

Natalie Timberlake of Bethel was recently presented the Robert E. Turcotte Memorial Award for 1990 by Androscoggin Home Health Services.

Timberlake, a registered nurse and educator is currently director of special education for SAD #44. She has been active with Androscoggin Home Health Services for several years, and served as chairperson of the organization from December, 1987 to January, 1990.

The Robert E. Turcotte Memorial Award is given annually by Androscoggin Home Health Services to a "person or persons who make an outstanding contribution to the promotion of home health care."

Turcotte, of Auburn, was treasurer of AHHS Board of Directors from 1978 until his death in 1982. Recent Turcotte Award recipients have included: Marion Chase of Waterford (1988), Dorothy Crowley of Lewiston (1989), Betty Gianquinto of Norway (1989), and Congresswoman Olympia J. Snowe of Auburn (1989).

During her tenure as chairperson, Timberlake led the organization through a major corporate reorganization and a new clinical home care model. This time was marked by significant demands on the abilities and time of all AHHS Board members.

In presenting the award, AHHS Chairperson Catherine Thorpe of Auburn, cited Timberlake's considerable organizational ability during her leadership, her sense of humor and continuing sense of direction to board committees and management.

Thorpe also spoke of numerous other activities carried on by Timberlake in promoting home health care: speaking on behalf of home care legislation, arranging for AHHS staff to speak before numerous civic groups throughout the region, leadership of fundraising efforts in Bethel, and recruitment of the new board members and corporators in the organization.

In accepting the award, Timberlake said she looked with a great deal of fondness on her years of activity with AHHS and challenged others to volunteer their time and efforts to similar causes.

Bethel selectmen call special town meeting to raise $900 for DEP fine

The Bethel board of selectmen has scheduled a special town meeting for Jan. 16 to get voter approval to pay a $900 Maine Department of Environmental Protection fine.

The fine stems from violations of the state's Site Location Development Act. The agency said the town violated the law when it sold, without DEP approval, two lots in the Airport Industrial Park to GAMM II and offered to sell the remaining four lots in the park.

Although the DEP initially fined the town $6,000 for the violation, former Town Manager Rodney Lynch and the town's lawyer managed to reduce the penalty.

Paying the fine is the last requirement contained in a consent agreement, which the town signed earlier this year with the DEP.

United States Luge Association member Jon Owen of Bethel will be defending his National singles title at the 3M National Luge Championships to be held March 2-3, in Lake Placid, NY.

In October Owen started off the current luge season with a silver medal in the men's single division at the International North American Luge Championship in Calgary, Canada.

Mahoosuc Land Trust receives easement for over 200 acres in Upton

The Mahoosuc Land Trust received a conservation easement on a 204-acre tree farm in Upton Thursday.

The document permanently prohibits development of the land, but allows the continued use of the acreage for timber production and harvesting.

The easement was donated by Norman and Marion Scruton of Anacortes, Wash., who will continue to own the land, which they have visited and hiked on for several decades.

Officers of the non-profit group say they decided to accept the easement donation because of the ability to work out terms that would both limit development while allowing timber harvesting, two of the organization's long-term priorities.

Earlier this year the Trust accepted title to the seven-acre Eva Schools Cane Landing in Northwest Bethel, which will be held by the Trust and managed by the Friends of the Androscoggin. Both donors are entitled to tax deductions under the federal Charitable Gifts Act.

The Mahoosuc Land Trust easement is located near Lake Umbagog, a short distance from the boundaries of the proposed Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge.

The Scrutons will receive a property tax reduction based on the difference between the approximate $100,000 original value of the property and the $60,000 to $70,000 value attached to the property after Thursday's easement was granted.

In addition, said The Trust's Lands Committee Chairman Marcel Polak, the couple will be able to continue their past practice of wood harvesting, with the conditions that no clearcutting occurs and a harvesting plan be prepared by a registered forester and approved by Mahoosuc Land Trust.

The Scrutons can also rest assured that their land will forever be maintained in its natural state, Polak said.

The easement also allows the donors or their heirs to construct up to three seasonal dwellings on a six-acre parcel within the 204-acre property. Terms of the easement were arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Scruton, Mahoosuc Land Trust officers and the Scruton's attorney, Bruce Rood of Waterford.

Nitroglycerin Relieves Angina Pain

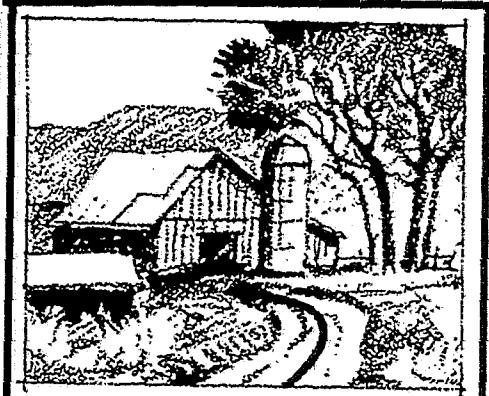

Nitroglycerin is a blood vessel dilator medicine that is used to prevent and/or reduce the severity of discomfort and pain associated with angina pectoris. Angina is thought to be caused by an insufficient flow of blood through the vessels of the heart. Nitroglycerin relieves chest pain by relaxing the muscles that surround the blood vessels in the heart, thus allowing more blood and oxygen to reach the heart.

Nitroglycerin in its various dosage forms can cause brief or temporary headache, facial and neck flushing, weakness, and dizziness. One may need to sit down for a few minutes after taking nitroglycerin.

Sublingual Tablets: Small nitroglycerin tablets that are to be placed under the tongue are called sublingual tablets. They should not be swallowed. As the sublingual tablet dissolves, the medicine is absorbed into blood vessels inside the mouth. Pain may be relieved in 2 to 3 minutes.

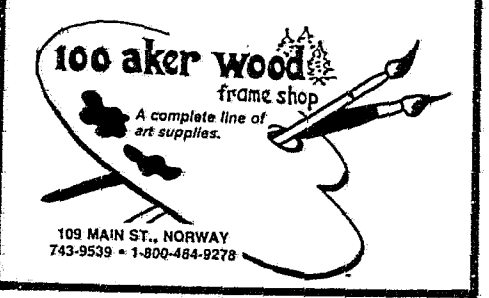

Oral Tablets and Capsules: Long-acting oral capsules or tablets may prevent angina pain for 8 to 12 hours.

Topical Dosage Forms: Nitroglycerin also may be absorbed through the skin from an ointment or a skin patch.

THE PATH OF VISION

In planning a path of vision, the eye will follow certain shapes and will form directional signals. They may focus attention where you want it, but they can also lead the eye out of the picture. A blocking device, such as a tree or a rock, may stop the eye from wandering and hold it within the picture.

THE PILGRIMAGE CONTINUES—Despite the warm, wet weather skiers continue to make their holiday pilgrimage to the mountains. Sunday River Skiway once again attracted record crowds over the holiday period. But at Mt. Abram in Locke Mills business was not so brisk. Taxes

Manager Vern Maxfield said, "We're quite a bit ahead of last year. 78 percent of the taxes have been collected."

"I guess people are paying for what they have to," said Maxfield, "not what they'd like to."

West Paris and Upton are also reporting good returns.

Tax collector Diane Stimson estimated that West Paris has collected 88 percent of its taxes.

"I would say with the economy the way it is, our percentage of tax returns has been very good," said Stimson.

"We're maybe off by $5,000 or $6,000 from where we were last year."

In Upton Tax Collector Clayton Thompson said the town was doing very well.

"We're a little above an average year," said Thompson, "everyone's cooperated very well."

In Andover, Newry, and Gilead tax collectors said returns are running about the same as previous years.

Newry Tax Collector Mary Tripp said the return rate was "about the same as last year." But those who have purchased real estate in Newry during 1990 don't seem to be paying promptly, according to Tripp.

Tax Collector Kathy Williamson of Andover said, "Delinquent tax amounts are higher than last year, but not much."

"They're [taxes] not that far out of line from last year," said Williamson.

"... about the same as last year. The same people who are always behind are still behind."

Bethel, which operates on a different fiscal year from other local towns, bills its townspeople twice a year for half of their total tax bill.

Tax Collector Merton Brown said at the last tax deadline (Nov. 15) returns were down slightly from previous years, with 83 percent of the semi-annual tax bills being collected.

But, Brown said, "We're about to do tax liens on 1989-90 taxes, and we have more than we've ever had."

back. It's just water."

The Town of Woodstock has been attempting for three years to get the store's septic system corrected.

In October the selectmen gave Reavis 10 days to either close the store down or fix the septic system.

At that time Reavis claimed he could not afford to have the system replaced. He offered to shut off all outgoing water. But the selectmen demanded that if the store was to remain open he must break the outgoing pipe and have the tank itself pumped out and filled in.

In December, Woodstock again threatened legal action to have the store closed if Reavis did not take some satisfactory action.

Instead of replacing the septic system or closing the store, Reavis negotiated with the town's attorney to be allowed to shut down the failed septic system, and provide a chemical toilet for store employees.

said Gray, "but it has to be six or eight inches before I venture out too far."

He recommended that snowmobiles or all-terrain vehicles not cross the ice until better conditions exist.

Lt. Nathaniel Berry IV, a warden at the Gray Headquarters, is also warning anyone attempting to go out onto the ice to wear a flotation device, even if they are only checking ice thickness.

A list of ponds and lakes open to ice fishing is available, along with ice fishing rules, in the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife's ice fishing regulations pamphlet, available where fishing licenses are purchased.

to disconnect their sump pumps from the sanitary sewer system. The regulations require that they be off the system now, and not wait until the reconstruction work reaches their neighborhoods.

Former town manager Rodney Lynch, who is now acting as a consultant on the project, said the town is working with those homeowners to get them off the system. For example, he said, a homeowner in an area where there are no storm drains might be able to divert the sumpage to a natural drainage point on their property.

Saunders, however, will initially be working only with homeowners in the area targeted for reconstruction this summer, and these are the only people currently eligible for loan/grant funds.

Saunders' position, which is half time, is fully funded by CDBG funds and is expected to last for about a year.

She said she expects to be contacting property owners soon, and that individual loan/grant decisions will probably be made by March.

sively," he said, "to do the things we know how to do and not get lackadaisical."

But even before the Rebels' impressive tournament showing, Higgins said he was seeing encouraging signs that the problems are behind them.

"We've made big strides in the past two weeks," he said. "I think there's a really strong possibility we can make the tournament."

If they do, it will mark a major turnaround for the Telstar basketball program. Last season the Rebels posted a 9-9 record and missed the championship tournament by a single game. That record itself was a positive accomplishment, however, since the year before that the team had gone 3-15, and prior to those three wins, Rebel basketball squads had lost 23 straight games.

The Rebels have three senior starters who remember the last years—and all three were selected as all stars in the Gorham tournament.

Mike Clark-Pelletier has been a four-year starter at guard. This year, however, fellow senior Nate Buckman took over the playmaking duties of point guard, freeing up his backcourt threat. As a result Mike is now a three-point shooter inside and outside, and has become the Rebel's leading scorer.

The Rebels' leading scorer is senior forward Tim Chapman. Athletic and quick despite his 6-foot-3 height, "he's a tough kid to stop when he's on," the coach said.

Juniors Tony MacKillop and Scott Higgins round out the starting five. Scott, a forward, is the team's best defensive player, and tough inside when his teammates are able to get the ball to him under the hoop.

Tony, a 6-foot-4 center, is a potential college player, Higgins said. Talented offensively, defensively and off the board, Tony could be a force in the Mountain Valley Conference, his coach said.

Off the bench, juniors George Bethel, center; Troy Wing, guard; and all-purpose sixth man Victor Hart are getting a lot of playing time, and should form the nucleus for another strong squad next year, Higgins said.

The Rebels play today, Jan. 2, at home against Leavitt.

contended that the Rumford meeting was very poorly publicized, and Marie Bartlett, chairman of Greenwood Board of Selectman (who attended the Rumford meeting) later contacted the authority and urged that another meeting be held in this area.

"There wasn't a real representation of people from this area at the Rumford meeting," she said. "A number of people have told me they're really upset about this, and I want to make sure people here understand just what [the MILLRWA] is up to."

About 80 people showed up for the earlier meeting in Rumford, and they were unanimous—and vocal—in their opposition to locating a nuclear waste dump in the area. They were also skeptical of the authority's rationale for selecting the area.

The 12 regions identified in November represent the first cut in the siting process. Further winnowings are expected to be announced in April and September.

The Greenwood meeting will begin at 7 p.m., and Selectman Bartlett stressed that it is not limited to residents of Greenwood—anyone from the area who is interested in the issue is more than welcome to attend and ask questions, she said.

Adult Ed offers business skills

Business Skills is a new program set for Telstar High School in Bethel offered jointly by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education and NOVA Adult Education.

The program is designed to meet the needs of the busy person who wants to acquire business skills or upgrade present skills to a level required in a modern office.

The program is modular; students start anytime throughout the semester and work at their own rate for as many or as few hours as fit their schedules.

Each of the eight business skills courses is modular, and students can work on one or more courses at a time. Each student will have an individual program designed for them.

A one-time enrollment fee of $25 includes all instruction, use of textbooks, computer time and covers all eight modules.

Joyce Perkins is the business skills instructor. Subjects which are available include:

Keyboarding: For students with no typing or speed less than 20 word per minutes. Students will use a computerized program which gives an introduction to and practice with the alphabetic, numeric and punctuation keys of the standard keyboard. There will be access to both electronic typewriters and computers.

Intermediate Typing: The module will provide a working knowledge of elementary business communications including business letters, memos, invoices and tables. Students will achieve a speed of 35 words per minute.

Advanced Typing: Students will achieve a production skill marketable in the workplace. The lessons are in the form of staff and service office simulations for which students type letters, business forms and reports. Students will be required to type 50 word per minute while demonstrating knowledge of correct formatting.

Word Processing/Computer Applications: Students will learn the terms associated with word processing which will allow them to understand and discussions related to automation and word processing. They will learn how to produce and edit letters, memos, reports and statistical tables, to create and maintain records, make inquiries, and prepare reports through the use of data base.

Record Keeping: Students will learn to be effective in entry-level positions of a clerical nature, maintaining business records. Projects will place students in the setting of different businesses using simulations.

Beginning Accounting: The accounting cycles for a service business organized as a proprietorship and for a merchandising business organized as a partnership will be covered. Students will work in a more advanced position of clerical competency, and will become familiar with the complete accounting cycle.

Advanced Accounting: Students will learn to work with accounting on computers. Realistic applications will include the use of standard forms, procedures, business practices and accounting terminology. This module will cover the accounting cycle of a merchandising business organized as a corporation and selected specialized activities performed by entry level accounting employees.

Office Procedures: This module covers the following business skills: personal and business communications, human relations, information systems, word processing, data processing, business management, telecommunications, file management and mail processing.

All business skills modules are available at the following times at Telstar High School: Mondays, 4-9; Wednesdays, 3:30-9. Those enrolling should indicate the modules they wish to take and the time periods they are available to attend, so that slots may be assigned. As a general rule, times are allocated in two hour blocks. To enroll call 824-2780.

Telstar to take part in citizenship contest

Secretary of State Bill Diamond has announced that Telstar Regional High School will participate in the second annual Maine Citizen Bee, an exciting national academic competition based on knowledge of American history, government, economic, geography, and current events.

The local coordinator is William Morton.

Students will study for the competitions and compete within their schools early next year, and the top winners will go on to compete in regional competitions on April 4. From there, winners will compete in a state final on May 11 and then a national final in Washington, D.C. in June. Participating students will have the opportunity to win over $1,000 on the state level, and up to $12,000 on the national level.

Secretary Diamond noted that the competition is designed to encourage students to take more of an interest in our society and our government, "Learning more about our country's heritage and culture was not only challenging for the participants, it was fun. The enthusiasm of the students at last year's competitions made this apparent. Meanwhile, their preparation gained them increased knowledge, increased political awareness and, ideally, an increased capacity for the kind of critical thinking that a genuine democracy needs in its citizens. Perhaps most importantly, I hope that they have gained an increased awareness of the importance of their individual roles as citizens."

NOTES FROM

Telstar Guidance

Happy New Year everyone. The high school guidance staff is pleased to start the 1991 year off on a positive note by announcing the college acceptance of seniors, Kirsten Powell and Katherine (Katie) Stevens. Kirsten, daughter of Bruce and Shirley Powell, of Hanover, has been accepted, early decision at Bowdoin College, Brunswick. There, she will major in economics with an emphasis on research, business administration and personnel management.

Katie was accepted at Southern Maine Technical College, South Portland, where she plans to pursue studies in culinary arts. Katie's work experiences with N.T.L. and the Noremman Inn coupled with her Career Week job shadowing experiences at the Bethel Inn were key in enabling her to make this career choice. Katie lives in East Bethel with her parents, Alvin and Alice Stevens.

On Friday, Jan. 4, the Guidance Department will welcome the return of Telstar alumni to speak with prospective college-bound juniors and seniors. Alumni are asked to share their college experiences and insights with students.

Sample questions alumni will be asked include how they decided to attend college, how they feel Telstar best prepared them, how they might have been better prepared and how they adjusted to living on their own.

Alumni interested in attending should call the Guidance Office at 824-2138 by Thursday, Jan. 3. Telstar staff and students are all looking forward to seeing and hearing from them.

District guidance counselors are pleased to announce the successful completion of established Crisis Intervention Team in all SAD #44 schools. Parents and community can now be assured that in the event of a life-threatening illness or death affecting students or staff in the schools, teams are "in-place" to handle these situations effectively with established procedures.

With the cooperation of respective school principals and interested staff and community members, teams were fully instituted by mid-December.

C.I.T. in-service sessions at each elementary school and a districtwide C.I.T. workshop at Telstar was developed and facilitated by District Guidance Director Dan Hart. Assisting Mr. Hart were Diane York, R.N. at Rumford Community Hospital; Brian Stowell, chief of police, Bethel; Rev. John Bass of the West Parish Congregational Church, Bethel; District School Nurse Chris Cole; and Rev. Nathan Seckinger, Goshen Center of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, Bethel. For further information regarding these teams, community members are encouraged to contact respective school building principals or guidance director Hart. Members of the C.I.T. are teachers, John Emery and Barbara Sabin, principal Charles Plummer and social worker Lorraine Latour, Crescent Park C.I.T. members are guidance counselor Kathy Acker, teachers, Debbie Germaine-Maselli, Carolyn Gould, Heidi Steele and Brenda Wight and principal Dave Murphy. Ethel Bisbee's C.I.T. members are teachers, Ellen Ople and Marcie Tupper, principal Wendy Ford and minister Lisa Vonderheyde. Serving on Woodstock Elementary School's C.I.T. are principal Frank Boynton, teacher Ellen Greeke and social worker Lor-rairie Latour. At Telstar Middle School team members are teacher Karen Bean, teacher's assistant Macky Chapman, guidance counselor Sally Hannon and principal Bruce Bell.

At the high school C.I.T. members are ministers, Jean Bass, Brendon Bass and Nathan Seckinger; guidance counselors Dan Hart and Elizabeth LaVallee; teachers Heather Carson, Richard McCann and Richard Roy, assistant principal Carroll Higgins, Bethel Police Chief Brian Stowell, Tri-County Mental Health Counselor Becky Hardy, school nurse Chris Cole and emergency rescue medic Arlene Greenleaf.

Bethel Inn offers day of free cross-country skiing

Variable snow conditions through December have dampened the enthusiasm of many Nordic skiers. In an attempt to rekindle the spirit, Bethel Inn Ski Director Sally Sawyer has designated Saturday, Jan. 5, as a "ski free" day at the inn.

According to the ski shop, the free skiing offer is not only a reward for patience, but it is hoped that once skiers visit the trails in Bethel they will recognize there is indeed good skiing in the area.

In spite of the lack of significant snowfall in New England, the Bethel region has fared better than most. Miles of trails have been groomed and trail conditions range from fair to excellent.

If the weather continues to be unfavorable and ski conditions take a turn for the worse, the alternate ski free day will be Saturday, Jan. 12.

In addition to the free skiing day, the Bethel Inn is offering the use of its recreation center to encourage skiing. From Sunday thru Thursday all trail pass holders will be entitled to use the outdoor heated pool, saunas and fitness center until 2 p.m.

For more information, phone the Bethel Inn and Country Club Cross-Country Ski Center at 207-624-2175.

WATERFORD FISHING DERBY

The Waterford Fish and Game will hold their annual fishing derby Jan. 5 and 6 from sunrise to sunset.

The derby is open to all area lakes and ponds. The weigh-in station will be at Keoka Lake Town House Beach. Cash prizes for largest brook trout, brown trout, logan pickerel, bass, and salmon. Great door prizes and refreshments. Tickets $1, available from any Fish and Game member, Woodman's Sporting Goods Store, Norway or by calling 583-2228 or 743-5612.

SMP/Pace blood drive

Stevens Memorial Hospital and PACE Ambulance Service, in observance of National Blood Donor Month, will be sponsoring a community blood drive at the new PACE Ambulance Building, which is adjacent to the hospital, on Monday, Jan. 7 from 2-7 p.m.

Anyone in good general health, 18 years of age or older (17-year-olds must have a signed parental/guardian Red Cross consent form), weighing at least 110 pounds, and having no history of hepatitis or exposure to the AIDS virus, may be eligible to donate.

An appointment may be scheduled by calling Karen Caouette, Stevens Memorial Hospital Community Relations Director, 743-5933, ext. 474, before Jan. 2.

The Historical Society has their meeting the second Saturday of each month. It is held at the building. It is nice to have the meeting there as the group is surrounded by the exhibits and can enjoy looking at some of it as they present the program.

The January meeting will be presenting a program on river drivers and logging. Ralph Hoyt is putting Olive Davis' firewood in. He, also, hauled off an old refrigerator for her Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews were over one day this week. Other callers were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goldsmith, Mrs. Alta Waterhouse and Alshia Miclon who played fish with me for quite awhile. She won. Richard felt came too doing his kind deeds he is doing for all people.

Esther Davis spent two days and nights with me because of illness. She held a Christmas dinner for Jerri Shorey, daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Johnson, Patricia Tibbets, Jackie and Neil and the hostess. The menu consisted of baked beans, scallops, marinated carrots, Johnny cake, two salads. The desserts were apple pie and ice cream. Ethel Twitche and Edith Deegan came in time to partake of those.

Karlene Bachelder, Nancy Wight and Gil Seeley enjoyed the Telstar CPS Holiday Concert, grades 1-5, Dec. 18. It was great to see all the parents and grandparents watching their favorite children perform.

The Windy Valley Snowmobile Club had their Christmas potluck supper meeting Thursday evening, Dec. 20, at the town building. There was exchange of gifts and a lot of fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bachelder and Gil Seeley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arlan Littlefield and their children, Julie and Jody, for Christmas dinner Tuesday, Dec. 25. A delicious feast was enjoyed and later some home movies of days gone by when Boots Morton's children and the Bachelders were young. I think Brent was only about two or three years old at the time.

Bowling at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford, were Betsy Clark, Karlene Bachelder, Sylvia Wight, Bea Lowell, Olive Anderson and Gil Seeley. Rena Powers was a guest. Sylvia was high on the triples and Gil was high on the singles, but it was a close score. Sylvia beat Karlene by one and Sylvia and Betsy tied with one point below and so

The weather rounding our this year has not been too good nor too bad just enough to interrupt family plans. Ponds and streams are bank full and there are some places, but temps not down to zero yet.

Mrs. Elma Doyen hosted a family party on Sunday entertaining John Hindman and friend of Portland, Connie and Mark Hindman and Steve Wheeler. Christmas day Hugh and Majorie Awalt of Augusta spent the day with her mother. Connie and Mark spent Christmas Day with the Lee Hindmans in Windsor.

I spent two days first of the week with Sean-Turner family in Oxtield. Bernie, Kass and Kaitly Gatchell of Auburn, Brandon and his fiancée of Old Orchard spent Christmas day with the Dave Salways.

Mrs. Evelyn Kimball spent Christmas Day with her sister Mrs. Lillian Kimball in South Paris.

Bill and Phyllis Bancroft spent Christmas Eve and day with the Paul Halles in Lisbon Falls. On the way home Tuesday they called on Marian Arsenault and family in Norway.

Let us all pray for peace in this New Year and may it be more prosperous for us all.

I think we have had enough of foggy and rainy weather, we need snow to bank up the house. We are supposed to get snow in the winter. A nice day for Christmas day, hope everyone had a good one.

Howard Anderson is back home after visiting his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson, of Berlin, N.H.

Mr. Joe Reidy of Massachusetts came to spend Christmas weekend with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Spencer. Her mother, Norma Reidy, flew to Florida to be with her mother who is ill.

Christmas Eve, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Poland and Joanna, who is home from college, enjoyed a family gathering. Joanna brought me up some goodies. They were delicious.

Doris Lawrence enjoyed a delicious Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Felt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Silver and Jenn Felt. A lot of nice gifts.

Wednesday, Dec. 26, I went to Dr. Bruce Mason in Lewiston to have an x-ray of my jaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oja had a large gathering Christmas day: Gail Oja of Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cantwell, Jason and Kristi from Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Oja of Rhode Island; Julie Oja of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Oja of South Paris; and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Oja and family of Buckfield.

Thursday, Dec. 27, Evelyn Chamberlain entertained her brothers and sister at noon for their Christmas party: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oja; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Abbott; Mr. and Mrs. Perley Ellingwood; Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Grover; Doris Maxim; Walter Connell; Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Grover Jr.; Irwin Ellingwood; Frances Haney; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ellingwood. I know they will have a lot of goodies.

Sunday, Dec. 23, Sandy Spencer and Michelle brought me over a tasty dish of spaghetti and two pieces of pie. I hadn't eaten much on account of having a strep throat and the works.

My callers: Brenda LaCroix, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thayer and Jason, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lawrence, Joe Vacher, Howard Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Record, Richard Felt, Joanna Poland, Diana Poland, Andrew Merrill, Maureen Heath, Jimbo Coffin, Jeanne Millett, Amanda Heath, Stevie Millett and Kim Brown. Joanna and Diana Andrew brought homemade goodies. They were delicious and the jellies were good. Dougie Penley brought in gifts from Albert and Marietta Penley.

Joe Reidy left Wednesday to go back to Massachusetts so grandson Chris Spencer went back with him.

Howard Anderson has been sick with the "bug" that's going around.

Chris Spencer broke two bones in his right arm. He is more comfortable at this time. I am sorry Chris.

Saturday, Dec. 15, Norman Millett came and got me to go to Jason Ellsworth Thayer's third birthday supper. The supper was delicious. Auntie Maureen Heath made Jason a beautiful decorated dinosaur cake. Also we had homemade ice cream. The men do not like to turn the crank, but all agreed it was worth it. Those there were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heath Jr., Amanda and Jeremy; Mr. and Mrs. Roger LaCroix; Stevie Millett; Kim Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thayer; and of course Jason; myself, and the hostesses, Norman and Jeanne Millett. The girls put the Christmas tree together and decorated it and it was so pretty.

It really snowed and what a lousy weekend. Not much traveling up and down Trap Corner Hill. Tuesday, Dec. 18, was beautiful.

Friday, Dec. 14, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vacher were in Massachusetts to visit his sister, Fannie Whitten.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Farrar have moved into their new home. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hsley and family are living with them at the present.

Don't forget, Saturday, Jan. 5, there will be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall, Richard Felt Band. Start the New Year right by dancing and having fun.

Callers have been Sandy Spencer and Joe and Madge Vatcher who brought me a lot of frozen goodies.

Thanks to all our friends and clients in the Bethel area for your patronage in 1990. We look forward to serving you in the new decade.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

One morning recently, I sallied forth to see what I might learn and enjoy. Soon I discovered that I was not alone. A blue jay flew across an opening; a streak of blue flame against the white of the snow. He perched on a limb nearby, where I could admire his black highwayman's mask and his black and white wing bars as well as his vivid, icy blue. There was a jaunty and forthright, announcing to me that with sparkle in the air he was happy to be alive. I wondered if this had come from my home. Most people like to exclude jays from their birdfeeders. A jay will sit on a birdfeeder and swallow one sunflower seed after another, as though his stomach were a bottomless pit. You can see the seed go down and hit bottom—think. Then he gobbles another and another. How rude and complacent he looks—elbow on the table and no gratitude whatever. He has a hard, brazen call, more of a challenge than a song. I watched him for several minutes. He had no cares or worries. He knew that he belonged to the wilderness. This moment was his moment and he told all the world what he thought.

After another call I caught one brilliant glimpse, as he flashed away among the trees. Was he on his way to my feeder?

Another Christmas day has gone into history. I joined all of the Holt family where we all had a lovely day; eating, laughing and taking care of gifts. Of course the little girls were the highlight of all the fun. Fay had had a cyst removed from her finger a few days before so things were not easy for her. Leonas was ill but appeared for awhile and Robert's wife had a very miserable cough but no complaints from anyone; just rest periods.

Denise Adams invited me out to lunch one day, which was a nice Christmas gift. I enjoyed it.

I have had several callers; my brother, Ernest, and his daughter, Maxine, from Poland; my nephew, Dale Mills, and wife of Shapleigh; another nephew, Carl Curtis, his wife, Betty, and their two sons and daughter from town; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Durgin and two sons, also from town.

Larry noticed that I needed wood so took time to get some for me. David stopped by to help with a light which had gone out and Robert took me to the farm. They were all a Santa for they left gifts and so did John Betts. Those with my 108 cards, brought me close to my good neighbors and many friends.

My cuckoo clock has returned home with a new look and is working well. I had to smile when David told me that the "clock man" said, "It needs a cleaning and oiling." I said, "That's strange for it has only been on my wall for 30 years with nothing ever done to it but to wind it." It ran all the time. The names of the children who gave it to me are still there. What a memory.

I talked with my sister, Leona, on Christmas day and my other sister, Lucy, came to see me at the same time that my niece, Lucy, was here so we had a nice visit. Leona lives in Texas. I haven't seen her for years.

Now it is time to greet 1991 and I wish for peace and health to all. Happy New Year.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, Jan. 3, at the Town Conference Room at 11 a.m. The meeting will start at 11:30 and a potluck lunch will be held at noon. Each one is to bring a dish for the dinner and your own place setting. Frank Kimball, State Insurance Medical Supplies, Inc. will be the speaker for the program.

The Historical museum reflects the desire of many people in Woodstock to record the community history. It also gives us the flavor of our New England heritage in general. Have you done your genealogy? Many Historical Society members have been pleasantly surprised by information they have found. The Research Committee will try to help if they can. Curator Larry Billings has given the Society a book on England and another on America's upper classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hoover and Marybeth returned to New York after spending Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt. A foggy Sunday as I sit down to type. Expect to go to Auburn until after Christmas this afternoon so got to write this to get it in on time. The weather certainly doesn't sound very good as they gave it on the radio this morning but one never knows whether they are right or not. Just have to wait and see what takes place, that is all we can do.

Because of the weather report last Monday, Peggy did her stores a day early. Didn't want to have to go to Bridgton in a storm.

We were certainly glad of good weather on Monday so we could have our Christmas party at Grange that evening. We had a good turn out and hopefully everyone had a good time. I tried to have a good program for all. Plenty of refreshments after the meeting so no one had to go home hungry unless they wanted to.

Tuesday wasn't such a good day but thank goodness it was cleared so we could go to North Bridgton on Wednesday for treatments. My neck is giving me such a time and don't know just why but it is very painful to go along with the rest of my troubles. Anyway, I have my sewing done for Christmas and a couple of days to spare which is unusual. Have had a chance to read a little which I love to do. Maybe I can get caught up in the near future.

Russell and I both had treatments on Wednesday and did a few errands on the way home. I was in town in the afternoon also as I had an appointment to keep.

Thursday wasn't a very busy day for me as I took it easy trying to let the treatment help my neck feel better. Helped a little but not enough.

Didn't go for groceries on Friday morning as I had an appointment at the garage in the afternoon and decided to do it all in one trip so as to save on gas. With the price of it as high as it is, I try to economize what I can. Got my car greased and oil changed as well as getting groceries and was glad it stayed rain and not sleet until I got home.

Tom and Peggy have been down to play 63 with us several nights this week but they seem to win most of the time. The cards seem to fall their way instead of for Russell and me. However, we like to play and hope each time will be different.

Russell and Peggy got ready and started for the dance on Saturday evening but didn't go too far before turning around and coming home. It was so foggy they just didn't want to go farther. However, they were told this morning that Route 26 wasn't too bad last night so wished they had kept going.

As long as they didn't go dancing last evening, Peggy and Tom came down and beat Russell and me at 63.

Forgot that on Thursday evening we went to Grange at West Paris. It was an open meeting with Chapel Valley folks present for the delicious supper and a nice program with gifts for all. The Christmas songs always make for a good program at this time of year and we had some at our Grange meeting also.

Got soup in the making this morning so Russell won't go hungry while I am gone down to my daughter's. Always try to leave things so he doesn't have to do too much cooking while I am gone. Just hope Christmas is a good one so all get to Nona's for a good time like we had last year.

West Paris Grange will meet on Jan. 3 with a 6:30 potluck supper preceding the meeting. There will also be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall on Jan. 5.

The children put on a play and had a Christmas party at the Congregational Mission Church and it was enjoyed by all who attended.

Mary has had many callers as usual and is expecting David Small from Kennebunk to call for some of his favorite foods. She says he calls ahead so she can have those foods ready for him.

Guess that is all the news around here for now. Take care one and all and have a good week ahead.

Bread Loaf project ties into telecommunications network

For the past 4½ years, many teachers in SAD #44 have been participating in a writing project funded by "Mr. Bingham's Trust for Charity" through the Bread Loaf School of English at Middlebury College. The Bread Loaf in the Schools—Bethel Project was originally funded as a three year project designed to work within the Bingham guidelines to help "improve writing proficiency" in children. Thanks to the interest, participation and dedication of teachers, students, and parents in SAD #44 the Bread Loaf project received two additional years of funding for 1989-91.

This fifth and final year of the project is devoted to coordinating a telecommunications project in the SAD #44 schools which will enable students in this rural area of western Maine to communicate, share their writing, and conference with students throughout the school district, across the country and eventually around the world. Grant funding has been used to purchase modems and software for each school in the district as well as provide on-line telephone time so that students may participate in Bread Loaf's Bread-Net Telecommunications program.

Although this telecommunications project is still in its preliminary stages, several teachers are now "on-line" and have connected with other teachers across the country who are participating in Bread-Net, thanks to support from Telstar High School computer teacher Mike Delehanty.

In order to take the Bread-Net program has been provided by the Otten Foundation and the Longview Foundation which will support "Expanding Horizons." This will dovetail with the Bread Loaf project by involving the core of district teachers and their students who are participating in Bread-Net.

Melanie Ellsworth, Wendy Ford, Elizabeth O'Meara, Roger Sabin, Linda Wheeler and Marguerite Graham will be helping students formulate questions in order to gain information about the geography, community and culture of areas beyond western Maine. These questions will be entered onto an international "bulletin board" to be voluntarily responded to by school children around the nation and world.

Incoming information will form the basis of a variety of projects culminating with an evening celebration at the end of the year to share experiences and results with parents, students and SAD #44 community members in grades one through five "beyond the traditional social studies textbook to a broader understanding of people and communities around the world." As these teachers and students become proficient using telecommunications, they will share their projects with other teachers and students in SAD #44 who are interested in learning more about the opportunities telecommunications can provide for rural schools and communities.

Community Concepts receives housing grant

The Maine State Housing Authority has approved a $125,000 housing grant for Community Concepts, Inc. of South Paris. MSHA Director Dwight A. Sewell has announced.

The $125,000 will be used by Community Concepts to establish a local revolving loan fund to repair homes owned by very-low-income families in the region.

The local grant, one of eight totaling $1 million, was made recently through MSHA's award-winning Housing Preservation Loan Program (HPLP). All grants went to regional non-profit groups involved with low income housing.

HPLP is a new program designed to increase the amount of regional home repair capital and supplement the work of traditional lending institutions.

Education chief says state will freeze school spending

State Education Commissioner Eve Bither said last week that in light of the budget reduction brought on by the slumping economy it was highly unlikely the state could increase funding for local education for the next fiscal year.

Maine law requires that the State Board of Education establish a certified funding level for the state share of general purpose aid for education. That level would rise 13.1 percent to $601,894,256 for the 1991-92 school year according to a board vote last week.

However, Commissioner Bither said that budget constraints will mean that the state is unable to provide this level of increase in funding for the coming year.

"From my discussions with the governor, it is clear that the economic slowdown will severely limit the state's ability to commit additional monies to general purpose aid (GPA) for 1991-92. Current plans call for me to submit a budget that will roughly freeze contributions at this year's level of $301,655,768," said Commissioner Bither.

"Obviously, this is disturbing news, but it is the governor's belief that we should be up front about our inability to fund an increase in general purpose aid in the next year. This will be exceedingly difficult for educators to accept, but it has to be put in the context of the current economic slump which has cut deeply into available state revenues."

"When revenues were growing, education was the beneficiary of increased funding. Now, during an economic downturn, educational aid has to be frozen next year at this year's levels. However, for the remainder of this year the governor is proposing sparing GPA the 15 percent reductions all other areas of state government are facing," Bither said. "I will continue to advocate strongly for an increase in funding for local schools, and the governor has assured me that he is sensitive to my expressions of concern as to the hardship this will create in the education community," she said.

NEWS FROM

Adult Education

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will begin the winter schedule of classes starting the week of Jan. 14 for most classes. A complete course guide was mailed to area residents on Friday, and additional copies are available at the Adult Education office at Telstar High School.

The winter term courses for SAD #44 Adult and Community Education include:

Machine Embroidery Brush Up: Rachel MacKay will offer a class at her home for those who have had her class and need to brush up, starting Tuesday, Jan. 15, from 1-3, number of weeks to be determined. Free.

Machine Quilting: Radiant Star is the pattern in a six week course on Thursday at Telstar from 7-9, with Mary Brown. Some experience needed. $10. Irish Chain will be the pattern for a three week class on Tuesday at Telstar from 7-9, with Nancy Donnelly. $10.

Hand Quilter's Workshop: Perfect your quilting stitch while creating a white-on-white pillow top; worked on white fabric with matching thread. Design transfer and matching techniques will be covered as well as practicing the basics and the finer points for beginners and intermediates. Nancy Donnelly at Telstar on Saturday, Feb. 2 and 9, until noon. Supply list will be sent. $10.

Quilting for Beginners: Rail Fence is the easy-to-make pattern for this six week course with Donna McCarrahan, starting Wednesday, Jan. 16, at the West Bethel Church, 9:30-11:30 a.m. $10.

Rug Braiding: Special projects for those with some familiarity, including stair treads, round rugs, chair pads. Bessie Giddings offers a five week class on Thursday at Telstar, 7-9, starting Jan. 17, $10.

Heart-Shaped Fabric Boxes: For that special Valentine. A two week class with Donna McCarrahan on Wednesday, Jan. 16 and 23, 7-9 at Telstar. List of supplies to be sent. $10.

Decorative Painting: Joyce Frazier offers morning 9-12, or evening 6-9, 10 weeks classes starting Thursday, Feb. 15, at her home in Andover. $10.

Bird Carving: The bird for this five-week class will be the woodcock. Join Mike Murphy on Tuesday or Thursday at Telstar, 6:30-9:30, starting Jan. 15 or 17. This class is for advanced carvers only. $10, plus $15 lab fee for blank and feet.

Chair Seating: Restore your chairs with cane, splint or rush under the direction of Hans Paulsen, on Wednesday from 7-9 at Telstar for six weeks starting Jan. 15. $10 plus cost of your supplies.

Basketry: A variety of baskets with Patty Brown and Lana Fryberg in Andover, starting Tuesday or Wednesday starting Jan. 15 or 16, 6:30-9:30 at the Andover School for four weeks. $10 plus $15 lab fee. Make an egg basket with Jan Todd in a three-week class at Telstar on Wednesday starting Jan. 16.

7-9, $10 plus $7 lab fee.

Wood Turning: A basic course to learn about tools, tool care and safety while working on projects with Bob Keniston starting Wednesday, Jan. 16, 7-9 for five weeks at Telstar. $10 plus $10 lab fee.

Surviving the Job Hunt: A five-week course including writing cover letters, designing resumes and managing the interview process. Students will finish the course with completed resume guaranteed and boosted self-confidence. Heather Carson, Wednesday starting Jan. 15, 7-9 at Telstar. $10. Fee will be waived to anyone who is unemployed.

Introduction to Computers—Apple: For the beginner to learn basic operations and the types of tasks for which computers are used. Get over the fear and learn what all the excitement is about. Emphasis on home and school use. Linda Davis at Telstar, four weeks, Tuesday, 7-9, starting Jan. 15. $10.

Microcomputer Applications: A University of Maine course at Telstar. COS III (three credits) will be taught on Telstar's IBM-compatible machines on Tuesdays, 7-8:30, with a choice of lab times at 6-7 and 8:30-9:30. The class will cover computer terminology, spreadsheets, and database management. Norm Putnam in Rumford, 1-800-696-1103 to register.

Algebra: Stephen Bies will work with you on an individualized basis on Algebra I or II. This is an open entry/open exit program on Tuesday nights, starting Jan. 8 from 6-9. A great way to improve your skills for the job or entrance exams for college or vocational school. If taken for 15 weeks this course is worth an adult diploma credit. $10 (Free to credit students).

Brush-up Math: Decimals, fractions and percents, plus all basic computational skills, will be reviewed using a combination of small group, one to one, and computer-based instruction with Rockie Graham. Students may join the group on Thursday nights, starting anytime from 6-9. If taken for 15 weeks this course is worth an adult diploma credit. $10. (Free to credit students).

English: Are your writing skills keeping you from job advancement or higher education? This course, using a combination of small group, one to one, and computer-based instruction, will help you zero in on weak areas and work on improving them. Rockie Graham will work with you on Monday nights, between 6-9 to develop a study plan and to provide materials and instruction. Students may join this program throughout the term. $10. (Free to credit students who must complete at least 45 hours).

Learning Centers: English and Math review, as well as GED preparation, and individualized high school credit courses are available in the Adult Learning Center setting. The Wednesday evening Learning Center is primarily set for GED preparation and testing and meets from 6-9 at Telstar. Daytime Learning Centers in Bethel meet on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays with schedules arranged individually. A Learning Center in Andover will be held on Thursday nights from 6-8 starting Jan. 17. Anyone interested should contact the Adult Education office, 824-2780. Learning Centers are free.

GED: To earn a GED/High School Equivalency diploma, you may enroll at an Adult Learning Center to prepare for the exam. The official GED Practice Test is available to assist students in the preparation process, as are specialized materials including workbooks and computer software. There is no charge for preparation or testing.

Adult High School Diploma: Adults may earn credits toward a Telstar High School diploma by participating in small group classes or by working on their own with an instructor using the External Credit Option. Anyone interested in GED or diploma classes must make an appointment with Merrill Bittner, Educational and Vocational Guidance, at the Adult Education office, 824-2780.

The SAD #44 winter program includes a number of short courses specifically planned as "Cabin Fever Relievers," including:

The Poetry of Robert Frost: A three-week session of reading and discussion with Telstar's Rod Abbott. Thursdays starting Jan. 17, 7-9. $10.

Jazz and Swing: A Celebration of 50 Years Ago in Jazz (1941). Ed Hitchcock will share sound and commentary in a one session special on Wednesday, Jan. 23, snow date, Feb. 6, 7-9. $4.

Macintosh Technology Night: Tom O'Meara will demonstrate a variety of tricks in using the Mac. Participants are encouraged to bring things to share and to come with questions. Thursdays, Jan. 24, 7-9 at Telstar. $4.

Forestry Seminar: Forester Merle Ring will cover changes in the laws relating to tree growth, clearcutting and regeneration, as well as wildlife management for the woodland owner. Thursdays, Jan. 31, 7-9 at Telstar. $4.

Photography: A one night special on winter and night photography with Tim Winters. Winter does not have to be the off-season when you have a camera. This illustrated talk will feature winter subjects and night shots which capture mood and atmosphere in town and country. Tim will entertain general and technical questions from beginners to advanced. Tuesday, Jan. 22, snow date, Jan. 29, 7-9 at Telstar. $4.

Is Bridge for You? A two session clinic with Sig Sykes especially for those who wonder if bridge class is in their future. Tuesdays, Feb. 5 and 12, 7-9 at Telstar. $8.

Crisis in the Gulf: A study circle on America's choices. A new concept in adult education features a participatory discussion of four options using balanced and non-partisan materials. Join Beverly Cassara for a stimulating evening on Tuesday, Jan. 8, 7-9 at Telstar. Free but please pre-register and you will receive materials.

Wills: Attorney Gordon Gillies presents a seminar on wills and durable power of attorney for health care, both important aspects of planning for your family's future. This has been a perennial favorite, and will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 30, snow date, Feb. 6, 7-9 at Telstar. $4.

Courses designed for parents and others who work with children include:

Family Issues: A four-part series on "Communication in the family" an opportunity to look at your own family and to learn about communication, self-concept and gender issues in the family. Kathy Slack got rave reviews last fall—this term the class will be at the Woodstock School on Thursday starting Jan. 24, 7-9, $10 per family.

Survival Skills for Parents of Infants and Toddlers: An early childhood course, using the STEP materials with Lorrie Hoeh, will show you a variety of strategies for communication and discipline. Seven weeks on Tuesdays, starting Jan. 15. $15 per family.

Survival Skills for Parents of School-Age Children: The tried and true STEP program which has been effective with thousands of families. Lorrie Hoeh will lead this class on Mondays, starting Jan. 16 for seven weeks. $15 per family.

How to Solve Wet Basement Problems: Solutions for moisture and bulk water control in basements and crawl spaces by the homeowner. 6-8:30 on Tuesday, Feb. 5, snow date Feb. 7, with Paul Thornfeldt of Western Maine Home Inspection Services. $4.

Motorcycle Safety: Daigle's Driving School will offer this course on Saturday, Feb. 9, at Telstar from 8-4:30. The cost is $65 and pre-registration is required.

Defensive Driving: The eight-hour course developed by the National Safety Council worth a three-point license credit. May 6, 8, 13 and 15 at Telstar. $25. Senior citizens, $5.

Commercial Drivers License Prep: A study session for those who are planning to take the relicensure exam, covering driving safety, transporting cargo and passengers, air brakes, combination vehicles, plus a practice test. Telstar, 6-9, on Feb. 4, 5 and 6. $5.

Vocational and technical courses offered at Telstar and Rumford include:

Screen Printing: A basic orientation to various techniques used in screen printing through a lab-based course involving work on individual projects. Businesses enrolling students in the course will receive, upon request, technical assistance from the instructor David Tripp. Tuesdays, starting Jan. 15, 6:30-9:30. 15 weeks. $25.

NOVA classes: In Rumford/Mexico, call 364-2012 for details or to register. Class B Driving starts Jan. 10. Certified Nurse Assistant (CNA) starts Jan. 22. Entry-level Machine Tool starts Jan. 30. Welding for the Workplace starts Jan. 28. Beginning DOS starts Jan. 29. High Pressure Boiler Operator starts Jan. 29.

Classes designed for improving health and fitness include:

Healthy Back Class: Learn more about your back, including anatomy, injuries, causes of pain, plus safe lifting techniques, back first-aid exercises and daily activities. Mary Rossi, Physical Therapist, will offer the course on Jan. 23 and 30, from 7-9 at the Bethel Area Health Center. $10.

Eating for a Healthy Heart: Wendy Pollack of the extension service will present a program on low-fat, low-salt and low-cholesterol cooking, with plenty of useful handouts. Wednesday, Jan. 16, snow date, Jan. 23, 7-9 at Telstar. Free.

Standard First-Aid: A Red Cross course with Jeannine Thornton at the Bethel Area Health Center on Jan. 17 and 24, 6-10. $20.

CPR: Training in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation for those who wish to learn this life-saving technique or who need recertification. Jeannine Thornton at the Bethel Area Health Center on Jan. 31 and Feb. 7, 6-9. $12; $5 for recertifications who do not need the book.

Aerobics and Exercise at the Health Center: Early morning, 6:15-7:15, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Mary Rossi, $30; lunch hour, noon-1, Tuesday and Thursday, Ann Adams, $20; evening, 6:15-7:15, Tuesday and Thursday, Pat Morey, $20.

Senior citizens 62 and over will be charged half the fee. Individuals who have not been exercising regularly are advised to consult their physician before beginning a program. Hall walkers are welcome at Telstar on school days between 2:30 and 4 to walk for exercise in the corridors. Please check in and out at the Adult Education office.

In addition to the adult education courses, a full schedule of University of Maine Community College courses is offered at Telstar's TV site. Classes start the week of Jan. 14. Course guides are available at the Adult Education office. Tuition waivers are available for those 65 and over. Call 824-2780 or 1-800-696-1103 for more information.

Individual tutoring for reading, writing and math, one-to-one tutoring is available at school, community or home locations for adults. All tutoring is free and confidential. For further information call 1-800-322-5455 or 824-2780.

SAD #44 provides services for adults considering a change of career, looking for a better job, or thinking of entering the world of work outside the home. SAD #44 has an excellent range of adult guidance services including personal advice, a computerized career preference program called CHOICES, a computer-based job seeking instructional program called TIPS, and a resource library of information on job-seeking skills and post-secondary programs.

CareerSearch is an exciting individual program of career exploration which combines many of our adult guidance resources. CareerSearch takes approximately 10 hours over several weeks and has been helpful to over 100 area residents over the past three years in identifying new directions for employment or further education. Merrill Bittner is the educational and vocational guidance specialist for adults. Call 824-2780 for an appointment.

Unless otherwise noted, there will be a fee of $10 per course for SAD #44 residents, $15 for non-residents. Students are responsible for the cost of supplies and books. Registration fees are not charged for those 62 and over regardless of town of residence, or for adults in high school diploma or literacy programs. Checks payable to SAD #44 Adult Ed. Refunds will be honored up to the second class meeting.

There will be no Adult Education classes at Telstar on Jan. 21 or during the week of Feb. 18. (ITV classes follow the published University of Maine at Augusta schedule). Storm cancellations for bad weather late in the day will be broadcast over WOXO and WWMR. A storm day for SAD #44 schools means that all Adult Education events are cancelled. Classes may be cancelled for insufficient enrollment.

To register for classes, prospective students may phone 824-2780, Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., Friday, 8-4. The answering machine is available for messages at other times. Andover residents may call the Andover School at 392-4381 during school hours.

Attention Contel customers in North Newry

Your Contel service team will be transferring the existing copper cable to state-of-the-art fiber optic cable on a route from Bethel to Hanover.

This new fiber optic route can use laser beams to carry your voice, video and data through hair-thin glass fibers at nearly the speed of light. It will give customers greater voice clarity and service dependability. During the final stage of this conversion there will be a planned service outage on Tuesday, January 8th from midnight to approximately 4:00 a.m. This procedure will affect roughly 90 Contel of Maine customers in North Newry.

Contel has notified all emergency services in the North Newry area of the outage. If an emergency occurs, contact Willard Wright in North Newry or go directly to the Newry Town Hall or Fire Department. Personnel will be on hand to respond to emergencies immediately.

If you need more information on this conversion and how it will affect you, please contact Contel of Maine's Service Center (toll free) at 1-563-9911.
